Excerpt from Catalogue of an Exhibition of Nineteenth Century Bookbindings

This process unites the sections to one another in series, one after the other, and permits the perusal of the book by the simple turning of leaf after leaf upon the hinge formed by the thread and the back of the section. A volume, or series of sections, so treated, the ends of the strings being properly secured, is essentially bound;' all that is subsequently done is done for the protection or for the decoration of the volume or of its cover.
